Disclaimer: The QXCI system is to be used as a Biofeedback Multimedia System. It is designed for stress detection and stress reduction. The device does not diagnose anyone. Only a Licensed Practitioner can diagnose a patient. This system is calibrated to measure the fine and subtle electrical and subspace reactions to a group of biological and medical substances. The sensitivity is set so fine as to pick up the earliest sign of disease and distress. Thus the results might (may) be below the client recognition. The readings should be evaluated by trained staff. No claims are made of the system or results.

The Purpose of this Manual

This manual has been designed to assist you in the operation and understanding of the QXCI programs. As a new practitioner, the QXCI can feel overwhelming at times as there are over 300 different therapies to choose from. Remember that you are helping your client even if you are only doing the therapies that make sense to you. Take your time, relax and be patient with yourself, as you are learning to navigate the most comprehensive medical system in the world. With continued study and practice you will develop skill. Remember to let your intuition guide you, as you provide the necessary human compassionate connection between your client and this amazing technology. It is our hopes that you find this manual helpful and insightful with your endeavors.

Note:

The Quantum Xrroid Consciousness Interface has been designed as an evoked potential biofeedback device, for stress detection and stress reduction. There is really no way that you can cause harm, just take it slow and don't overload your client. The QXCI works with subtle energy, creating gentle healing possibilities largely by bringing to the surface (awareness/consciousness) underlying (unconscious/subcon- scious) holding patterns. Disease generally is the result of long standing issues and may take sometime to unravel. It is therefore important to establish a commitment with your client for several sessions to build a solid foundation so the results can unfold. Results can be very dramatic at times and rather subtle at others; enjoy the passage, trusting that the process is unfolding for your client exactly as is best for them.

Disclaimer:

This manual is for education, information and training purposes only.
